

Motels, Inns & Restaurants near Camp Betsey Cox and Camp Sangamon

The Killington area is a great place to stay overnight. Gorgeous mountains, good restaurants, and nice places to stay, all aimed at the ski season. They're available at good rates because you're coming out-of-season. All are within a twenty minute drive from camp. Many give a discount to Camp families. Please don't hesitate to ask.

The Inn at Long Trail – Route 4, top of the mountain. A great little historic inn with an Irish Pub connected, and live Irish music on the weekends. Good hiking and restaurants nearby. It's a nice Bed and Breakfast Inn. With a good in-house restaurant, open seasonally. Dogs can come if you pay for a suite. ### Opinionated review of Restaurants worth patronizing (by Mike Byrom):

Killington Mountain Access Road– Choices (1st class dinner) chef-owned, and it shows. Big city-quality food at Vermont prices. Peppers (breakfast and lunch) The Grist Mill (lunch on the deck). Mother Shapiro's (good bistro & late nite food.) Sugar and Spice and Johnny Boys-Great breakfast both on Rt 4. Sugar and Spice is a pancake house with VT maple syrup! Downtown Rutland: Sirloin Saloon 15 minutes south on Route 7 across from Fair grounds (lunch, dinner, great salad bar), Three Tomatoes Italian (downtown dinner), Gil's Italian Sandwich shop – worth the trip for lunch –near Rutland Dunkin Donuts, Route 7 south...ask directions. Sewards for lunch and ice cream, Rt 7, 10 minutes south of camp. Old-fashioned neighborhood restaurant food. Roots- new to downtown Rutland on Wales Street in 2011- lots of vegetarian/special diet choices, local food, local flair. Table 24- Also on Wales Street, homestyle meals and delicious comfort food. Fun ambience. Ramunto's –Pizza and delish garlic knots. Located on Rt 7 south near Gils. Pittsford: JR's for breakfast is a tradition, if you can ignore their right-wing politics. North end of Pittsford, Route 7. Harvest Moon Café-home-cooking, 5 min. from camp. North on Rt 7. Brandon: 15 minutes north on Route 7. Café Provence- French inspired cuisine by a former executive chef of the New England Culinary Institute. Award-winning breakfast, lunch, and dinner. Bakery just down from the restaurant is worth a stop! Vermont Sandwich Company: various sandwich and soup options

We hope this is helpful!
